Luigi Murano Pleads Guilty to Assault-Courtland M. Chase Awarded $350 for Damages to Car-Gilbert O. Parker Dead-Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Dion Married 30 Years.

District court Wednesday by Luigi Mirano, his wife, Mary Murano, and Joseph Gabrielle being those upon whom the assaults were made. The arrest followed a long chase directed by Sergeant of Police Edwin West and Deputy Sheriff Fred Mitchell. The police were called to the house on Cak atreet following the complaint that Murano was running around the neighborhood with a revolver in one hand and a knife in another. When they arrived Murano was not to be located. A long search of that section followed, but the arrest was not brought about until the following morning when Officer Mitchell visited the quarry where Murano worked and took Ifim in charge.

Damages to the extent of $350 and costs, the latter amounting to $23.35, were awarded Courtland M. Chase on Wednesday in his suit against Otis E frown by Judge Williams of the Third district court. The case grew out of a accident which occurred on Pranklin street July 18, 1914, when the Lu-tomobile bus of Brown and the Chase wagon were in a collision. An appeal was taken to the superior court of Washington county.

HIS busy, progressive nation is today at standing, the more intimate comradeship that the and social development. The means by which the human voice, with its slightest inflections and indications of personality, can be carried across the continent instantly, have been provided. Talking by telephone from New York to San Francisco is now an accomplished fact.

The celebration of this latest and greatest triumph in the art of telephony has just taken Within a short time the public will have, ready for its use, the product of American brains, American initiative and American scientific and technical skill, a transcontinental telephone service, the equal of which is not even approached in all the other nations of the world.

It is a splendid scientific achievement of the very highest character. The power that sends the human voice out over the telephone is scarcely greater than that of a breath, yet the means have been provided by which this tiny, almost imaginary impulse, made up of as many as 2,000 separate vibrations a second, can be picked up by a delicate instrument, conserved over a distance of 3,400 miles, and reproduced perfectly and instantly across the continent. The human voice has been made to travel as fast as light, faster than sound unaided by technical apparatus; indeed, it rivals THOUGHT even, in the swiftness of its flight.

The imagination can but feebly grasp, much less attempt to measure, the far-reaching significance of such a tremendous accomplishment. One hundred million people will have for their daily use a system of communication that knows provincialisms, sectional prejudices, must eventually yield to the closer union, the better under- giving universal service to 100,000,000 people.

the dawn of a new era of commercial human voice establishes. The neighborliness of a whole nation is advanced by the brushing away of the physical restraints of centuries. This contribution to the future happiness and prosperity of a more closely united people has not been brought about, however, by the overcoming of a few isolated, concrete difficulties. Its success has depended upon the exercise of the highest engineering and technical skill and the solution was found only in the cumulative effect of improvements great and small, in telephone, transmitter, line, cable, switchboard, and every other piece of apparatus or plant required in the transmission of speech.

In this work the experimental and research department of the Bell System of which this Company is a part, has been engaged ever since the telephone became a commercial possibility, less than 40 years ago. With no traditions to follow and no experience to guide, this department, which is now directed by a staff of over 550 engineers and scientists, including former professors, post graduate students, scientific investigators-the graduates of 140 universitieshas created an entirely new art-the art of telephony, and has given to the people of this country a telephone service that has no equal.

It has required vast expenditures of money and immense concentration of effort, but these have been justified by results of immeasurable benefit to the public. The transcontinental telephone line, 3,400 miles long, joining the Atlantic and Pacific, is part of the Bell System of 21,000,000 miles of wire connecting 9,000,000 telephone stations, located everywhere throughout the United States. Composing this system are the American no East, no West, no North, no South. Dialects, Telephone and Telegraph Company and Associated Companies and connecting companies,
